Action taken to achieve excellence in academic, co-curricular, and extension activities after reviewing the students' achievements in the previous session 2022-23.

Academics

1. Remedial Classes by Dept. of Economics

Dept. of Economics teachers conducted class tests to identify weak students in their respective classes. Based on these tests and their evaluation the teachers conducted remedial classes for major economics BA 2nd year students. Smaller groups of students were made for these classes so that their problems could be addressed.

2. Workshop by Dept. of Mathematics

A five-day National Mathematics Workshop on “Emerging Areas in Differential Equations: Theory, Modeling, Discretization & Numerical Solvers” was organized by the Department of Mathematics in collaboration with CSIR and SERB from 16th to 20th Sep 2024. Eminent speakers from NIT Jalandhar, IIT Bombay, GGSUI, and TIET Patiala delivered their lectures. Along with teachers who participated students also benefitted immensely as the lectures by eminent resource persons enhanced their understanding of differential equations and applications, exposing them to emerging areas in mathematics. The students also interacted with renowned experts. Their interaction helped them develop problem-solving, critical thinking, and analytic-thinking and gave them a broader understanding of new career prospects in research, academia, and industry.

3. Conference by Dept. of Botany

A National Conference on Mountain Ecosystem: A Biodiversity Focus was organized by Department of Botany from October 21-22, 2024.

The National Conference on “Mountain Ecosystems: A Biodiversity Focus” provided a platform for students, researchers, and academics to deepen their understanding of the complex interactions within mountain ecosystems, particularly within the Himalayas. Key learning outcomes from the event include, Understanding of Biodiversity in Mountain Ecosystems, Recognition of the Importance of Mountains in Global Biodiversity and Resources, Insight into Current Threats to Mountain Biodiversity, Understanding Unique Challenges in the Himalayan Region, Development of Conservation Goals and Regional Strategies, Knowledge of Conservation Strategies and Practices and Inspiration for Future Research and Conservation Efforts.

Attending the national conference for students was a great learning experience. Through participation, students gained exposure to current research trends, networking opportunities, and professional presentation standards. They enhanced their subject knowledge by interacting with experts, engaging in discussions, and attending workshops. Such conferences foster critical thinking, boost confidence in public speaking, and inspire new research ideas. Additionally, they allowed students to develop soft skills like teamwork, communication, and adaptability, essential for both academic and career growth.
